DURO Water Systems Lead

There Must Be a Reason

Naturally there must be some reason why Duro has grown to be the largest exclusive manufacturer of private water systems in the world.

The reason is that the founders of Duro had faith that the American people would welcome a water system which would give real dry water service to suburban and farm homes.

The original idea of a carefully designed and honestly built product sold at a close price has always been strictly adhered to. As a result, the organization has grown until there are now nearly 1700 Duro dealers all over the country.

DURO Water Systems

are made in many sizes and styles—for a bungalow, or country club; for shallow wells, or cisterns. They are compact, powerful and automatic. They are driven either by electric motor or gasoline engine.

There is no mystery about a Duro System—it is simple, practical and safe. But there are many reasons why a Duro System will give you longer and better service.

Drop in and ask us to demonstrate Duro features to you—we will gladly quote prices also.

Recipes for Left-Overs.—To make left-overs as appetizing that a "make-up meal" is had with delight in true economy, it is well worth the time and imagination for the materials and the quantities vary, but the satisfaction of preparing an attractive dish from what might seem unattractive material worth the effort.

Scalloped dishes can be made with a small quantity of meat or fish, cut out with eggs. To three quarters of a cupful of chicken, veal, ham, sausage or fish, add four from two eggs, three quarters of a cupful of milk, a pint of cream or bread crumbs and one pint of white sauce. Meat should be finely chopped, eggs hard boiled, then chopped; fish should be flaked and all cut fine, etc.

Stir the bottom of a baking dish with the buttered crumbs, cover with half the chopped eggs, cover eggs with the white sauce and over this sprinkle the meat or fish. Add more eggs, cover with the buttered crumbs, add milk and seasoning and stir until the sauce thickens. These quantities make four servings. These quantities make four servings.

Stewed chicken and biscuits is another toothsome dish. Split open a sufficient number of biscuits and butter them lightly and arrange on a platter. Pour part of the gravy over the biscuits, pile the chicken on top and serve together.

Left-over chicken can be made into a dinner dish thus: Cut the chicken in small pieces and add to a dish and rince. Melt one or two tablespoonsfuls of butter (according to the amount of macaroni) in a baking dish, stir in the macaroni and mold with chicken and slightly thicken. Cover with the diced onions and a sprinkle of cheese, place in the oven for a few moments and serve hot.

Corned beef hash, made with shredded corned beef and cold boiled potatoes (cut in small pieces) is well liked. Add water until the dish is increased by placing poached eggs on the browned hash.

Potatoes and fish can be made into a delicious dish thus: Flake and remove bones from any kind of white fish, mix with water and add to the potatoes, cover with mashed potatoes, sprinkle with grated cheese and brown in the oven.

Potato soup can be made of mashed potatoes thus: Place in a double boiler one quart of milk, one small onion, one cupful of flour, one egg and an onion to taste. Cook until the onion is tender, then add the mashed potato (from one to two cups). Stir until well blended and thoroughly heated. Add a dash of salt and pepper. Serve with maple syrup, with sugar and cinnamon, or with marmalade or stewed fruit.

French toast is an old Pennsylvania favorite. It is known by various other names, but is always delicious. Cut bread in thin slices and dip in milk, then remove crusts, if hard. Make a thin batter with flour, eggs, milk and salt. Dip slices of bread first in plain milk, then in the batter and fry at high heat in a frying pan on both sides. Serve with maple syrup, with sugar and cinnamon, or with marmalade or stewed fruit.

English monkey is made with one cupful of stale bread-crumbs, one cupful of milk, one tablespoonful of butter, one-half cupful of flour, one egg, one cupful of melted cheese cut into pieces, one egg and a few grains of cayenne pepper. Soak the crumbs in milk for fifteen minutes. Melt the butter, then add the cheese, which is melted and add the crumbs, milk, the egg, slightly beaten, and the seasonings. Cook for three minutes and serve on slices of dry toast or toasted crackers.

Avoiding Waste Motion.

Waste motion is a phrase familiar enough in industry, but until recently not so familiar in the home. Yet in the home avoiding waste motion is equally necessary and profitable says Susan Ellen Dodge. That modern woman quite generally resists the temptation to use the service tray in setting the table, serving the family meals, and in making trips to the refrigerator and pantry. And all because she is so particular that she could not conceive of considerable energy by going good trays in bringing food and dishes to the dining table on a tray in one or at most two trips, and clearing the table in one or two trips.

The same homey old phrase, this is "making your head save your heels." Of course I have heard women object to eliminating waste motion, in particular, when it takes time, because it would make automation of them. Frankly, I think this is but a poor argument in favor of retaining old, time-worn habits. It is easier to clean clothes and dishes in the same old way than to change.

Take the use and operation of the electric cleaner. The majority of housewives have derived great benefit from these cleaners because they will not operate them properly. That is, they make use of them as though they were the only cleaning implement in the house, always back and forward motion, which is not at all necessary and defeats the purpose for which the electric cleaner was invented—to save women from backache, shoulder and pain in the life of rags and clothes by cleaning them more thoroughly than either the broom or sweater.

Another place where many women are remiss is in neglecting to make full use of the vacuum attachment. They make quick and easy use of cleaning machines and upholstery, capturing the dust on picture frames, plate racks, and span behind radiators and other such otherwise hard-to-clean places. And the result is that she has reduced her dry-cleaning bills tremendously by systematically using the correct attachment on her own and her husband's clothes.

Boiled Carrots: Scrape or pare the carrots, then cut into strips, dividing them into quarters or eighths. Place in a saucepan with enough water to cover the bottom of the pan. When the water boils add enough strong, clear beef stock to cover, simmer until the carrots are tender, then season with salt and pepper to taste. When carrots are tender, take up the carrots in a perforated spoon and arrange around a piece of boiled beef in a hot platter. Pour the hot bouillon in which the carrots were cooked over the contents of the platter.

In gardening, the soil can be kept from under finger nails by dipping the fingers and drawing them over a wet cake of soap, forcing the soap under the nails. This will keep the dirt out, and the soap can easily be removed with hot water.

Blueberry pie squash pie, corn chowder and a host of other good things made from State of Maine products will be featured in the new Industrial Arts exhibit at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass., on Saturday, Sept. 14 to Sunday, Sept. 15.

Maine canned goods have always had a reputation for excellence and the products of the State are well known throughout the country. The Eastern States Exposition is taking a new method of presenting this side of Maine resources to the public. A model kitchen will be set up as part of the display and the pie will be cooked throughout the week, closing on Saturday, Sept. 14.
